

ASIC lifts interim stop orders for Spaceship Voyager portfolios

Friday, 16th June 2023

Spaceship is pleased to announce that the interim stop orders issued by the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) in relation to the Spaceship Earth Portfolio, Spaceship Origin Portfolio and Spaceship Universe Portfolio (together, the Spaceship Voyager portfolios) have been lifted.

Spaceship has made changes to the target market determinations (TMDs) for the Spaceship Voyager portfolios to address ASIC's concerns and as a result, Spaceship Voyager returns to operating as normal with current customers able to make new investments. New customers will be able to join next week.

While the stop orders were in place, the day-to-day management of the investment portfolios remained unaffected. Existing customers were still able to access their account, withdraw funds, and reach out to our support team for assistance.

Spaceship is working closely with Diversa (the Trustee of Spaceship Super) to quickly respond to ASIC's concerns on the Spaceship Super TMD. For more information about Spaceship Super, please refer to our previous statement here. The customer support team for Spaceship Super continues to be available via telephone and in-app chat.

Spaceship thanks customers for their patience while these issues are being resolved.
